

From Russia to Down Under: numerous attractions at Expolingua Berlin

Berlin. Australia and New Zealand are the guests of honour at this year's Expolingua Berlin and Russian is the language of honour. The 20th international fair for languages and cultures takes place from November 16 – 18 at the Russian House of Science and Culture in Berlin.

Australia and New Zealand will present a wide range of educational opportunities at the fair, with universities, colleges, exchange organisations and the consulate generals providing information on studying and working in both countries. Language schools and language travel agencies will also inform visitors about language learning options. The seminar programme, which runs parallel to the fair, will include talks and presentations about both countries, as well as a mini language course in Kiwi English.

Expolingua Berlin will also mark the official end of the 'Year of the Russian Language'. Russian universities, publishers, language institutes and cultural centres will be represented in a special area of the fair. Moreover, there will be a range of lectures, workshops and games all about the language of honour, Russian.

Expolingua Berlin is the only international fair for languages and cultures in Europe's German-speaking region and provides an overview of the opportunities for language learning and teaching. The target audience for the event includes secondary school and university students, trainees and professionals with an interest in furthering their language skills, not to mention teachers, lecturers, interpreters, translators and anyone else interested in finding out more about other languages and cultures.

More than 150 exhibitors from 25 countries will be participating in the fair. They include language schools from Germany and abroad, language travel agencies, exchange organisations, embassies, cultural institutes, tourism offices, publishers and providers of learning and translation software.
